

The Ace & TJ Show & WNOK (Columbia, SC)
To Hold Benefit Supporting United Way Flood Relief

10/16/15 – Columbia, SC – WNOK Cares will be hosting a show featuring The Ace & TJ Show's Charity Case and MAX on Saturday, October 31st at the Music Farm located at 1022 Senate St. in Columbia, SC. All proceeds from the event will benefit the United Way Flood Relief. General donations and tickets for the all ages show can be purchased starting Monday, October 19th for $15 at WNOK.com.

“Even though the national media attention has left South Carolina and Columbia, we're still pushing forward to raise money for the families that are just now gutting their homes and trying to figure out what their life will be like. With the help of Ace and TJ, we hope to provide a little more comfort for those families.” – Greg Applebee/WNOK program director

“After 14 years of raising money for charity, we are honored that our first Columbia appearance is also a chance to help people in an area who have done so much to support the Ace & TJ Show through the years. There's no better party than a party for a great cause.” - Ace

“The whole thing is going to be... Scary Good... You see what I did there? Scary good because it's Halloween!!!! I crack myself up.” – TJ

In its 14 years in existence, Charity Case has raised over $1 Million for Ace & TJ's Grin Kids (a charity for kids who are terminally ill and chronically disabled). New artist MAX spent the summer as one of the opening acts on the Fall Out Boy arena tour and is currently promoting his single Gibberish (for more: redradiosite.com/project-detail/max-gibberish)

Now in its 15th year of syndication, The Ace & TJ Show syndicates to the formats CHR, Hot AC, Classic Hits and Country.
